St. Louis is not on the list of famous Civil War battle sites. But our city and its region, split by opposing loyalties and sympathies, had its share of agonies in the War between the States as its citizens fought among themselves over the issues that exploded into war.

This tour will focus on the events that took place in and around the City of St. Louis with site visits and stories about Nathaniel Lyon and the Camp Jackson Massacre, the infamous Gratiot Street Prison, the Old Courthouse, the St. Louis Arsenal and other sites associated with this troubled and turbulent time.

Your guide on this journey back to the Civil War in St. Louis is MHM Special Events Coordinator and native St. Louisan Barnes M. Bradshaw. Thoroughly versed in the history of this place and time, Barnes has an empathy and an enthusiasm that your group will find mesmerizing as they explore with him the twists and turns of a divided city, its joys and sorrows, its moments of victory, the agonizing pains of loss and struggle. Those who join Barney on this tour will see past the myth and look at the war in St. Louis through fresh eyes.
